Judge

George Wilson has more than 30 years of experience as a professional photographer in both editorial and commercial fields of work. His work has appeared in many national and international publications. Now focusing on nature and wildlife photography, George exhibits his infrared black and white landscape work and teaches photography at numerous art centers, botanical gardens and at the Walt Disney World Resort in his home state of Florida. A key element to George's work is his dedication to traditional photography as his post processing is strictly limited to tools aligning with the traditional darkroom.
